

A weather forecast

Emotions, Affects, and Feelings
Development of creativity
Social skills and relationships
Resources and self-efficacy
Self-assessment and solution orientation

23

ICT
 Communication
 Art and culture

3 - 12; group work

90 - 120 minutes

- to improve online search strategies
- to develop team working skills
- to foster flexible acting within a group
- to get familiar with a recording device

- ✓ a recording device
- ✓ a computer or any other device with internet access

none

1. This exercise aims at producing a weather forecast based on participants' "ideal weather". Beforehand, the group needs to agree on the following parameters:
 - a) The ideal weather for the next 5 days
 - b) The script of the forecast
 - c) Who is the narrator?
2. After deciding upon these three aspects, the responsibilities are divided among group members. You might ask your group to look up online weather forecasts to get some ideas.
3. As soon as the responsibilities are divided up, they can begin to work together in teams.
4. When finished with the script, support them in rehearsing the script and recording it.